Sir:
I do hope you will be able to find decent pictures for your covers. I don’t know how many people would share in my opinion, and this is the first time in my life that I have bothered to write a letter on a matter of this sort. The (Nancy Wright and Toni Gilman) pictures struck me as being lurid . . .

Joliet, Ill.

MRS. E. A. RODEGHIERO

Sir:
We want more pinups like the recent covers you’ve been publishing!

Chicago, Ill.

EDDIE SANDSTROM

Ed. Note: Our photo editor has been properly spanked by his wife.

Sir:
I think TV movies can be good or bad, whether they are British or ours. The “Beachcomber” and “Pygmalion” were outstanding.

Wilmette, Ill.

RICHARD H. RUBENS

Sir:
We listen to the Curbstone Cutup, Ernie Simon, religiously. We love him, but oh his wise remarks—murder!

Chicago, Ill.

MRS. B. GORDON

Sir:
Thought you might like to know someone is pleased with the present type size used on your program schedules, in preference to the capitals—namely me. Don’t see why all the fuss about Chub McCarthy. I think he’s amusing. However, I don’t agree with him on the British film controversy. Some of the ancient imports are better than the hogwash of Hollywood.

Chicago, Ill.

MRS. JERRY BERG

Sir:
Realized how many good shows there are when we tried to vote . . . Congrats to a swell magazine.

Blue Island, Ill.

R. H. BENJAMIN

Sir:
Next to my checkbook, TV your my favorite.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Sir:
Arthur Godfrey’s singing has improved. Now I only put cotton in one ear!
Chicago, Ill.
WILLIAM GANS

Sir:
I would like to see more of Skip Farrell. Also Olsen and Johnson.
Blue Island, Ill.
CAROLE ANN ZWYACK

Sir:
Just read what McCarthy thinks about the “Life of Riley.” I think it is one of the best family type shows on TV. Too bad you don’t drop McCarthy’s column, and put something entertaining in its place, let’s say a blank page.
Elmhurst, Ill.
DICK LEESLEY

Sir:
I have just read (Chub McCarthy’s) complaint about Arthur Godfrey. I don’t think it was very kind . . . I listen to every one of his morning shows, and this is why we bought a TV set, to see him as well as hear him.
Melrose Park, Ill.
MRS. EVELYN MENGHI

Sir:
What good does Chub McCarthy do? I think his jabber ruins TV Forecast. Can’t he find the good side of the story? His opinion of “Life of Riley” is lousy. It is one of the best programs on TV.
Chicago, Ill.
BOB GUTHMAN

Sir:
Couldn’t help noticing Chub McCarthy is still in your magazine. Why make us suffer with his continual sarcasm. It’s a blessing we don’t have to look at the shows he likes. I wonder how much graft comes his way for creating these and knocking those he doesn’t like personally? . . . Let’s start a contest to get rid of his nags Chub McCarthy.
Hines, Ill.
L. W. LEWIS

Sir:
Why don’t you people get rid of Chub McCarthy? I think he should drop dead.
Chicago, Ill.
WILLIAM GOUSMAN

Ed. Note: Says McCarthy “Wouldn’t it be a dull world if we all liked the same type TV shows. There would no longer be a need for four stations; one would suffice.” What do you think?

ON THE COVER
Herbie Mintz, star of WNBO’s “But Not Forgotten” show is saluted this week by TV Forecast. Herbie celebrates his first year in video, and 28 years of radio broadcasting. For more pictures and the feature story on TV’s man-of-memories, turn to page 9.

NEW YORK—

From merchant mart to concert hall is the story of Samuel Gallu. Script writer Gallu, who turns out “Howdy Doody” on NBC-TV, recently sang tenor obligato in Arturo Toscanini’s rendition of “Rondo Arlecchinesco” . . . Watch for Martha Tilton and Harry Babbitt to co-star in a romantic video show of their own . . . Big hit with the family audience here is Ernest Truex, film star, seen on WPIX in a weekly comedy . . . Bob Montgomery is hard at work ironing out wrinkles in the show he’s producing for Lucky Strikes . . . Switchboards here were jammed with phone calls from the midwest the first night Libby’s “Auction-Aire” was cabled to Chicago . . . Kids are trading stamp collections for Libby labels . . . Glamour Gal for 1950 is Faye Emerson whose gossipy show is zooming high.

CHICAGO—

Theodore F. Luga of this city is probably the No. 1 TV Fan. Luga, whose hobby is photography, is turning out video greeting cards that have the professionals sitting up and taking notice . . . Friends of Ernie Byfield, Jr. will be happy to hear he’s knee deep in television. After a stint with MGM in Hollywood, and NBC-TV, he’s now directing video operations for an agency . . . Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois is rumored to be negotiating for use of Chicago stations to air his views at election time this spring.

HOLLYWOOD—

The famed mail-order house, Sears Roebuck is experimenting with TV results on KTLS here in Los Angeles . . . It may be that video will replace the catalogue (in some homes) . . . Jeff Clark, Hit Parade singing star, is now adding movies and TV guest spots to his busy week.

Announce First Record Contest Winner—Here Are Easy Rules for You to Enter

Winner of the first week’s “Favorite Record” contest staged by TV Forecast was announced this week. He’s J. Howard Stein of 3035 North Racine, and his sincere letter wins him an RCA album of “Vagabond King” by Earl Wrightson, plus an RCA 45 rpm player!

Honorary mention was given to readers Adrian Bos of 56 East 102 St., and Richard P. Hentschel of 5724 Pensacola Ave.

Mr. Stein’s letter stated:

“My favorite RCA record of the week is ‘The Song of Vagabonds’ with Earl Wrightson because he gives such a moving and stirring rendition of this old favorite marching song of mine. The song and Mr. Wrightson’s dynamic voice seem to have been made for each other.”

“PS: I enjoy reading your record column because it gives me an insight on new records as they are released.”

This week another contest begins. You have until Friday, Jan. 27, to enter, so hurry. Clip out the official entry blank found on page 3. State what record album you wish if the judges rule your letter the winning entry.

Winners have their choice of an RCA Victor, Columbia, Decca, Mercury, or Capitol album. Just complete this sentence in 25 words or less—

Here are the rules:

1.) Letter must be 25 words or less. Record chosen can be 78, 45, or 33½ RCA Victor, Columbia, Decca, Mercury, or Capitol. State your choice.
2.) Record must feature or be played by a television star currently appearing on Chicago channels.
3.) Letter must contain contestant’s name and address. PLUS the official Entry Blank found in this week’s TV Forecast.
4.) Contestants may send as many Entry Blanks as they wish. Each week a new contest begins, for example this week’s contest ends midnight, Friday, Jan. 27. Letters postmarked Saturday, Jan. 28, will be judged for the fourth week’s contest. All entries become the property of this magazine. Employees of TV Forecast are not eligible to participate.

Flood of Mail Keeps Fletcher Rabbit Busy

Fletcher, who is in charge of incoming and outgoing mail for the Kuklapolitan players, starred by Burr Tillstrom on the NBC Kukla, Fran and Ollie television show (Monday through Friday, WNBQ), has been flooded by an avalanche of mail for the players.

The big rush started during the recent holidays and since that time, mail from Kukla, Fran and Ollie fans in all parts of the country has averaged 2,500 pieces a day.

Fletcher has put himself on an overtime schedule and says he can call on his family to assist if necessary in checking through the mountain of mail.

How Much Bunk in Color TV, Subject of Coronet Article

Is color television just around the corner?

The February issue of Coronet features an article by John L. Springer that may well answer the question. "Color television is not yet ready," says Coronet.

When it does come, the writer points out, it won't make today's sets obsolete!

Springer quotes Raymond C. Cosgrove, president of the Radio Manufacturer's Association: "No system has been proved ready for commercial use." Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters had this to say: "Color is at least five years away."

Why?

Color television "is like color movies. It will give a more sparkling and attractive picture. For outdoor scenes it will be magnificent. But how important is color to the movies?"

"Last year Hollywood produced 435 feature pictures. Only 68—or 15 per cent—were in color. As one Hollywood producer said: "Color may make a prettier picture, but it doesn't make a better one."

Authorization for color TV lies in the hands of the Federal Communications Commission, the Coronet article points out. "No color system has yet been completely tested in the field under all conditions of use. A hasty FCC choice now would heighten the danger of saddling the American public with an inferior system for years. Then we would be doomed to mediocre television," Springer warns.

"There is also the big question of whether the toddling television industry can afford color now. Color transmitting equipment is more expensive than black-and-white. As Hollywood has long known, color productions require special consultants, special lights, special sets, special costumes, longer rehearsals. All these pile up costs."

"Even now, many TV broadcasters are sagging under the bills from black-and-white transmission. Last year the nation's 50 stations lost some $15,000,-000. Here is a typical reason: a crew of ten engineers, sound-effects men and other technicians are on hand when one of the top dramatic productions goes on the air. The same show on television demands a crew of 40!"

"Like cars of the future," the Coronet article concludes, "tomorrow's television will be much better. Meanwhile, years of superb entertainment in black-and-white lie ahead."

SECOND CUP and Shopping Is Fun on WBKB find the Songsmiths and Ella Rose Halloran entertaining TV viewers with close-harmony tunes. The musical group can be seen and heard Monday and Wednesday on the Linn Burton telecast, and on the Friday morning shopping show.
HERBIE MINTZ

"...But Not Forgotten"

THIS week TV Forecast salutes WNBQ’s Herbie Mintz, television’s man of memories who takes you back to the days that are gone But Not Forgotten. Herbie, who can be seen on channel 5 with old-friend Norm Barry, this month celebrates his first year in video. As a matter of fact, Herbie made his radio debut 28 years ago on February 12, 1922, when he wandered into the studios of old station KYW.

At that time, Herbie was a student at Northwestern university, where he led a college band from his piano keyboard. When a scheduled performer failed to turn up at KYW that eventful night and Herb made his debut, the listener response soon had Mr. Mintz on a regular schedule, and he stayed on old-fashioned radio until his television debut a year ago.

Most any night you dial channel 5 you’re liable to hear something like this—

“Hello there ... comfortable? Norm, do you remember 50 years ago when beer was 5 cents a glass, and the lunch was free? Eggs were 15 cents a dozen—milk was 5 cents a quart—the butcher gave you liver for the cat and treated the kids to bologna sausage.

“The hired girl was satisfied with $2.00 a week, and she did all the washing. Women wore taffeta petticoats, didn’t powder or paint, smoke, play poker or shake the shimmy. The men wore boots, double-breasted vests, and whiskers—they spate on the sidewalk and worked 11 hours a day. A kerosene lamp was a luxury in those days.

Here’s good news for TV fans who collect phonograph records! RCA Victor has joined the bandwagon and will produce 33 1/2 rpm records, and the first classical releases of the LP variety will be made available to you readers early in March.

It is safe to say they will also continue to go along with the highly popular 45 rpm system, as well as the conventional 78 rpm disks until the demand for them is no more. Probably in 1950.

So, the war between 45 and 33 1/2 is over, with John Q. the winner, being able to choose his favorite artist without the previous complications.

The Honeydreamers, popular Chicago singing group, have cut their first disk for RCA. Six Times a Week is backed by I’ll Never Slip Around Again, cute novelty tunes done in an entertaining manner by the former stars of the Garage TV opus. It’s Victor 30-0021 on 78 and 54-0016 on 45.

Egads! Don’t miss the hilarious Capitol disk by Jerry Lewis—Are You for Real? Funniest thing I’ve heard since listening to Danny Kaye’s first records. You’ll like the reverse side, too, I Love a Murder Mystery. If you don’t get a laff, then call me Yogi Yorgenson.

Uncle Richard Tucker has cut a new LP operatic disk for Columbia that is well worth owning, as it contains nine of the most famous arias. Included are M’Appari from Martha and Vesti La Guibba from Pagliacci.

Peek at Future: Broadway Shows, Top Sports in Your Home in 1950

By PAT COOPER

We predict you'll see the top Broadway and Chicago legitimate stage productions; 1950 vintage movies, maybe premières; professional football, basketball and hockey; world champion fights; and vaudeville, including visiting circuses.

It's entirely possible, and as fascinating and modernistic as a chapter out of H. G. Wells.

What will make all these shows possible? Probably Phonevision. Maybe a revised Balaban & Katz theater policy. Possibly a combination of the two or an ingredient not yet known at this date.

Phonevision, as you may know, is a system designed to pipe special video programs into your home at a nominal charge. Here is how the idea works. A set owner reads of a forthcoming special attraction in TV Forecast magazine, he dials the operator on his phone and asks to be connected to the Phonevision show, "South Pacific" for example.

At the proper time, via his Phonevision-equipped receiver, he and his family enjoy an exclusive telecast of a Broadway musical for a small additional charge to be billed at the end of the month. What do non-subscribers to the system see on their screen? A scramble of images "jammed" by the station transmitting the show. The "unscrambling" is made possible by a bit of mechanism in your set, plus the small fee.

Balaban & Katz, Chicago theater chain who recently announced theater television, could enlarge their facilities in the following manner: Big-name attractions starring at the Chicago theater could be telecast to neighborhood theaters at special shows, or to homes via a system like Phonevision.

There is no end to the combinations possible.

B & K, WENR-TV, WGN-TV or WNBQ could cover local boxing matches, pro football games, comedies and dramas at the Harris, Selwyn or Schubert. New York stations could do the same,

A number of people would benefit under such a telesystem, if the F.C.C. would allow such promotions. Revenue, badly needed in TV, would go to the stations, phone company, theater box office, the federal government (taxes) and the firm controlling the system.

How soon can viewers expect such teledelights? That's a question our Dept. of Crystal Ball Gazing cannot yet answer, but our scouts will keep you posted.

Moore on WTMJ-TV

Tom Moore, colorful TV and radio personality, now heads the "Schlitz Family Party" on WTMJ-TV, channel 3, Milwaukee, Monday evenings. An audience participation telecast, Moore presents guest stars, and old world tunes sung by the Schlitz Family Frauenfelder and orchestra. Moore is former emcee of "Ladies Be Seated," seen recently on channel 7 in Chicago.
Harry Hall Sings and TV Fans Swoon

The era of swooning fans is not over, if we are to believe the hundreds of fan letters to this magazine, all praising the singing of Harry Hall, young and handsome vocalist on the Wayne King show.

Harry, who can be seen this week on WNBQ, channel 5, is a newcomer to the King family, joining them in September 1949 after the Waltz King auditioned him at the College Inn of the Sherman Hotel.

Harry tried hard to follow in his father's footsteps and become a pharmacist, but it just wasn't in the cards.

It was obvious very early in his life that Harry was more adept at reading music that he would ever be at reading doctor's prescriptions. He made his bow as a boy soprano at school and church affairs when he was nine years old, at 10 he won a singing role in the annual Passion Play presentation. At 12 he had his own radio program on a Milwaukee station.

Despite these early vocal successes, Harry studied pharmacy at the University of Wisconsin, and during the war served as a pharmacist's mate in the U.S. Coast Guard, with 36 months sea duty in every theater of naval operations on the globe.

Harry was born in Kenosha, Wis., but spent most of his life in Milwaukee. He is married and has a baby son.

Bring Back ABC-TV Barn Dance, Say Readers, More Fun than Vaudeville

Vaudeville got a kick in the pants this week as irate fans of the ABC-TV Barn Dance flooded the mails with requests that WENR-TV, channel 7, resume telecasts of their favorite show.

Writes Mrs. Henry Hamilton of East Gary, Ind., "It was certainly a grand program, one of the cleanest and most wholesome."

Reader H. Erickson had this to say: "I'm keenly disappointed the Barn Dance isn't on TV anymore. Lulu Belle and Scotty were darling, and so natural . . . and the dancing was so very good. It seems to me a program like that is superior to shows with one vaudeville act after another. Square dancing has become so popular with young and old that a program like the Barn Dance appeals to all. This is the first fan letter I have written."

Many of the letters pointed out that when the telecast was on channel 7 in Chicago, the half-hour was too short. Those were the sentiments of readers William Geruska, Frances S. Miller, Barbara Gorski and Mrs. Rober Lindley.

"I'll go out and find a sponsor for the show," writes Emil Jannings of Chicago, "if it will bring back my favorite evening telecast." Maybe reader Jannings has something there.

Does TV Do This to Your Family? Dragomir Family Real Fans!

Up in Benton Harbor, Mich., are television fans who wouldn't swap their video set for anything, in spite of the change in routine their receiver has brought about.

They are the Alex Dragomirs, readers of TV Forecast, who chose between a TV set and an automatic washing machine. You're right! They succumbed to TV.

Soon the whole household had to be reorganized, Mrs. Dragomir said. We tried setting up card tables in the living room but the carpeting couldn't take it. We scooted up our dinner hour so the younger girls could watch Howdy Doody, then Kukla and Ollie. The living room is cleared of chairs and apple cores and little friends, and then they're trundled off to bed.

By that time the two older girls are through with the dishes and settle down to the Goldbergs or a mystery show. Homework? Impossible. But they are both on the honor roll this month!

Dad takes over wrestling after the older girls go to bed at 9:30. Are you wondering what mother enjoys? Between getting dinner and feeding baby, supervising baths, etc., she does manage to get glimpses of lovely Fran Allison and cute Ollie.

Wrestlers Work Hard to Make an Honest Buck, Says Reporter

By WAYNE GRIFFIN
WENR-TV Sportscaster

This recent rash of wrestling "debunking" is beginning to get on my nerves. I realize that the art of grappling has slipped some since the palmy days of Hackenschmidt and Gotch, but in spite of what its detractors say, people still pay to attend the matches, and its television audience is larger put together than any single expensive entertainment program on the air.

Wrestling originally was a science, utilizing the laws of balance and leverage. Modern wrestling has combined that science with dramatic art. A philosopher might tell you that man's basic conflict is between good and evil...well, wrestling (as practiced nowadays) simplifies that by the simple expedient of staging each match between "heroes" and "villains" (or "good guys" and "bad guys," in ringside vernacular) Aristotle, who was a student of wrestling, among other things, believed that all drama must have as its end a catharsis, or relief of conflicting emotions. Wrestling patrons identify themselves with one of the contestants and are able to work off tensions vicariously, without fighting each other.

And perhaps, the matches give vent to the little bit of sadism, or masochism in each of us. The sight of brutality in the ring, or on a video screen has a measure of comfort for everyone.

It's easy to say that present-day wrestlers are clowns, that the matches are phoney, that the verdict is agreed on ahead of time, and that the whole thing's a farce. But it's my opinion that wrestlers work mighty hard to make an honest buck. The audience has made wrestling a show. It got tired of science. So, the wrestlers are just giving the customers what they paid for. And from the scattered teeth, the genuine blood, and the honest sweat I've observed on the ring apron, I can tell you it's no easy way to pick up a paycheck.

And if I had my choice between pounding a ferocious typewriter or a fierce ex-All American football tackle, even if the promoter guaranteed I was going to win, I think I'd settle for the mill and a mess less cash.

I don't claim that Gorgeous George and Benito Gardini are great wrestlers, but they are great showmen. And they can certainly wrestle better than most opera stars can act.

It's amusing the way most people don't brag about their telittance for these muscle maneuvers, but surprising how many know and approve the various outstanding performers.

It's all a matter of body contact. Football, ice-hockey, wrestling or kissing. They all have their place in the entertainment world, say the dyspeptic skeptics what they may.

A Swayze Yarn

"We want someone always on his toes. Someone whose alertness is uncanny and who can hear the slightest sound. Someone aggressive, tough, hard-boiled. Do you think you can fill the job?"

"No," was the answer, "But do you mind if I send my wife around?"
You'll See Cub Games on WGN-TV in April

For the third consecutive year WGN-TV will carry all home games of the Chicago Cubs. Reported cost for WGN-TV television rights is $30,000.

First scheduled game of a 77-game home season will take place at Wrigley Field Apr. 21, when the Cubs meet the St. Louis Cardinals. Previous to that, however, WGN-TV cameras will pick up the exhibition contests at Wrigley field on Apr. 14 and 16 when the Cubs meet the White Sox.

Voicing the Cubs games on WGN-TV will be Jack Brickhouse, sports service manager of the channel 9 station.

They Stand Accused

WGN-TV's courtroom series, "Cross Question," which is seen every Sunday, will be known as "They Stand Accused" after the telecast of Jan. 22.

Each week a case is put on trial in the courtroom, and the studio jury decides the verdict. The series is written by William Wines, Chicago attorney, and the lawyers who take part in the trials are all practicing attorneys.

Cases are all fictitious, but are staged and presented with such realism that more than one viewer has written to inquire if the shows are not actually filmed in a court. Professional actors take all the dramatic parts with the exception of the judge, the lawyers and the jury.

If You Enjoy a Good Murder, Watch This

"Hands of Murder," is the new murder mystery series, now telecast on WGN-TV each Thursday. The dramas, which are all staged and written by Lawrence W. Menkin, are being presented through a unique medium of production. Although a very simple stage set may be used occasionally, most of the backgrounds for the actors are provided by the use of special lighting effects and illusions.

In explaining the title of the series, Menkin has said that "the hands are the eloquent vehicle through which the depths of human passion and intensity are funneled into one final scene of violence."

Lawrence Menkin is assisted in writing the scripts by Charles Speer, and the studio direction is handled by Frank Bunetta.

Godfrey Loves People,
Dreams of Bali Hai

By ARTHUR GODFREY

Has television changed my life? I'll say it has!
Years ago, B.T. (before television), I used to be just a radio voice. Clothed in anonymity, I could go about my business peacefully, any place I pleased, without much of a stir.
Then came television, projecting my puss into homes and bars and doggone it, I can't even go around the corner for a pack of cigarettes (three guesses what brand) without running into fans and a million questions: "Hey Godfrey, how's that farm... that new plane... that was some crack you made..."

But don't get me wrong, though. I love people, although sometimes I wish I could go to Bali Hai and stay there for a while. I never want to become one of those stuffed shirts who hides from his public. But this kind of pressure that television brings makes you build a fence around you, just to get some time to yourself.

Television is a terrific medium. It has impact. While I'm still learning things about it, I've found that it is no different from radio, the stage or any other medium. People still seem to like a guy who is himself and not a Broadway gag writer's dream. I have to be me because I haven't got the talent to be anybody else.

Now, when people congratulate me for being so relaxed and at home in front of the cameras, it hands me a laugh. I'm only being myself and confidentially, I'm too doggone tired from all that radio work to try to be something else.

Every new show still is a great big adventure to me. I get a kick out of our guests, the big names and the unknowns from ping pong champions to Inca Indian Princesses.

Fun at Johnny’s

MOST complicated simulcast in Chicago is WBKB’s “Fun at Johnny’s,” sponsored by Emergency Radio and Appliance, a half-hour comedy audience participation show featuring MC Earl Nightingale and announcer Ed Scott.

“Fun at Johnny’s,” which can be seen this Wednesday evening at 8 p.m., has been running on radio via WBBM. Through a unique arrangement, it now becomes a remote simulcast originating in the sponsor’s store, the first of its type in this city. By using what is known as a double-hop micro-wave relay the picture and sound are relayed from the store to a receiver atop the Marbro theater, and from there to the top of the Sheraton hotel, then by cable to WBKB.

It is also the first time WBBM radio personalities have appeared on television. During the telecast, a tape recording is made of the audio part of the show. This is later edited for radio and TV contestants are able to hear the show via AM on the following Saturday morning on CBS.

John F. Beranich (top right) the “Johnny” of the simulcast and owner of Emergency this week said, “Anything can be fun, even ordinary occupations and pursuits. For zany performances we award prizes such as TV sets, record players and other items for the home.”

Johnny Beranich has been associated with TV for over a decade. In 1940, five years after he opened his store in Chicago, he began to install experimental video receivers. At that time there were no more than 100 sets in the city.

Homemaker, Mother TV Star—Vicki Stevens

Vivki Stevens, who appears regularly on the "Art Jarrett Show" on WGN-TV (Wednesday, Jan. 25, channel 9) never intended to be an entertainer. In fact— it just happened! And today she is a personality of radio and television audiences alike, and maintains one of the heaviest schedules of any Chicago-land star.

In her high school days in suburban Des Plaines Vicki planned to teach piano for a career, but she joined a trio with two of her friends, and before she knew it she was a member of one of Chicago’s most popular singing groups. An hour after their first radio audition the Doring Sisters were booked for a coast-to-coast network show. After that they appeared on the Carnation Hour, the National Barn Dance, the Edgar Guest show, Plantation Party, Musical Milk Wagon, and the original cast of the Chicago Theater of the Air on WGN.

Today she manages to be an efficient homemaker and mother, and in addition perform her daily radio and video shows. She is always on hand when a charity performance is called for, and she makes a number of guest appearances on other programs.

Vicki and Art Jarrett combine their talent to bring channel 9 viewers a pleasant fifteen minutes of music every day of the week, and the show highlights Vicki’s piano artistry. She also accompanies Art’s vocal numbers.

Karen Ford Sings in New Hotel Revue

Karen Ford, Rondo recording star who has guested on a number of leading Chicago television shows, is now appearing in the new Edgewater Beach hotel review.

1950 Problems

Television has been cited as a factor for a decrease of trolley and bus riding at night in Milwaukee. This was brought out by the Transport company during a hearing before the Wisconsin Public Service commission to whom the utility is applying for the right to increase fares. Earl M. Plettner, assistant superintendent of the Transport Co., stated that many people who would use public transportation at night are being kept home because they are watching television. Milwaukee has one television station, WTMJ-TV.

Since that time he has become television-minded and has sponsored shows such as the Black Hawk hockey games, Touchdown, Boxing Matches, and Shopping With Dinny, all on WBKB.

“Fun at Johnny’s” is a WBBM production. The show is directed by Jerry Dee, assisted by Al Rudd and Mark Rusell. It is written by Chuck Romine and Don Brinkley, with Wright and Associates as agency.

Finding items to keep the show lively is a job for this staff. In the past few weeks, the prop man has had to find such things as a complete diving suit, a live goat, cream puffs, gorilla costume, three foot statue of a swan carved in ice, professional roller skater, fencing instructor, girls baseball player, an Exercise cycle and a peanut butter sandwich.

History of Soccer Takes Fan Back to Days of the Odyssey

By JOE WILSON
WBKB Sports Director

Those celebrants in the Chicago area who were physically capable of turning on their TV sets on the afternoon of January 1 were greeted by another pioneer step in the history of WBKB, the station that has been making television history since 1941. On that day, it was our pleasure to focus our cameras on the first contest of a regulation soccer league ever to be televised in the U.S. The site was the Chicago Avenue Armory, and the principals were players engaged in the fierce competition of the National Indoor Soccer league. Five games were televised, involving ten of the twelve teams of a circuit containing the finest soccer talent in the country.

The spectacle was met with immediate enthusiasm... the “Say, this is some game... how long has this been going on” type of reaction. In fact, so great was the interest that TV Forecast asked for a history on the sport, and this is it.

Only the fact that soccer is a minor sport in the United States occasions the need for such an article, for it is certainly well enough known elsewhere. The game is played today in 60 countries, and is actually the favorite sport in 55 of those, being played by more people in the world than any other sport, and thereby inspiring the statement, “The sun never sets on the game of Soccer.” It is unquestionably the most popular spectator sport of Mexico, South America, Australia, Africa, the British Isles, and all of Europe. It is not at all unusual to draw crowds of ninety and one hundred thousand fans for championship matches, and one match at Hampden Park, Glasgow drew 149,547 paid. Not even our Rose Bowl classic can boast of such a throng. Players are traded for as high as $65,000, and people in the British Isles gamble up to one billion dollars on it annually... more than on horse racing.

Just where the game originated is a little obscure, although it is generally recognized as one of the oldest games known to civilization. One of the first references to it dates back to the days of the Odyssey, when Nausicaa and her maidens (you remember Nausicaa) could be seen “playing at the caitch.” The early Greeks played a game similar to soccer, but the game, as played today, was devised by the Romans when they invaded Britain.

Up until the latter part of the 19th Century, it was known merely as football in England, but with the coming of Rugby in 1823, the term football was not enough. As a result, Rugby was known by its name, and soccer became known as “Association,” after the London Football Association, the governing body of the game. “Association” was reduced to “Assoc”, and finally to the present-day “Soccer.” It is interesting to note that hockey was devised to fill in while inclement weather made soccer impractical.

The game, as it is being played indoors, lists seven men to a side, instead of the outdoor version of eleven. The ball may be propelled only by use of the head, in “heading,” and the feet, in dribbling, passing, and kicking. The body may be used to “trap” the ball, but absolutely no use may be made of the hands or arms. The need for tremendous skill and dexterity is immediately apparent, and as you watch it, in person at the Armory or on WBKB, you will become increasingly aware of the sheer artistry of the players... some of the finest on our continent... as they maneuver the ball for a pass, dribble, or shot.

From a spectator standpoint, the game has everything... speed, body contact, and suspense. We of WBKB are very happy that we thought of trying it, and we hope that you will enjoy it as much as we are enjoying the coverage of it. Come on out and see it on your next free Sunday afternoon.
Hoofing Isn't New to Harold Barry

Harold Barry's been around. The singing and dancing emcee of "Versatile Varieties" who can be seen this week on WNBQ has performed in all the major hotels and night clubs from the Last Frontier in Las Vegas to New York's luxurious Biltmore and Vanderbilt.

Born in Canada, Barry began his career in show business by playing roles in amateur theatricals. After doing some dramatic work in an English stock company, he became a member of a song and dance team for nine years. Evidently the hoofing put plenty of spring in Barry's legs because he became one of Canada's outstanding trackmen. In fact, he competed in the 1936 Olympics at Berlin as a contender for the 1500 meter crown.

In 1937 Abe Lyman saw Barry's performance in Toronto and was immediately impressed. The popular band leader brought him to the Hollywood restaurant in New York where he had a successful stay of 22 weeks. Since then he has been featured in leading hotels and night clubs throughout the U.S. and South America.

Barry has been an American citizen for ten years and now resides in Larchmont, New York. Between shows he likes to relax by shooting a round of golf. Not too bad at it, either ... as his scores in the low 80's attest. His favorite ambition? — to do stage shows in little old Gotham.

Get a Horse, Wynn Cried—Could You?

"Get a horse," that is.

That was a flat assignment given to Maurice Murphy of the "Ed Wynn Show" (WBKB, channel 4, Saturday, Jan. 21).

The script read "Wynn rides in on a horse, behind a chauffeur." Murphy wasn't surprised. Almost anything can happen on an Ed Wynn show. So he prepared to "get a horse." Trouble is, Murphy has found that such simple orders are more complicated than they appear on the surface.

First of all, it had to be a horse with stage experience, a "veteran trouper" type of horse, so that it wouldn't bolt with fright at seeing the audience. It had to be a gentle, manageable horse. Next, it had to be big enough to carry Wynn plus the chauffeur; big enough to carry one English saddle and one exercise saddle.

There must be two "wranglers" (men who handle horses). The horse must have "rehearsal time" to grow accustomed to the CBS-TV stage in Studio A, Hollywood. And it must be fitted with rubber shoes to prevent marring the floor or slipping.

Wynn made his entrance on horseback as advertised. In fact, the equine that Murphy finally corralled was something extra-special—a big fellow named Bob, which was ridden by the priest in the motion picture "Joan of Arc." Murphy tried for Ingrid Bergman's white steed, but found it too small.

Oh, That Red!

Only four weeks are left for readers to discover Chicago's "Typical TV Family," as nominations continue to be made by letter to this magazine.

The search, initiated by TV Forecast under the auspices of the Chicago Television Council, will end Feb. 17, at which time the family judged most typical will be crowned and feted at a special luncheon celebrating the Council's second annual convention here.

If you know such a family, jot down their name and address on a postcard, or in a letter, and mail it to the Editor, TV Forecast, 185 North Wabash, Chicago 1.

Thoughts at Random:

One of the most enjoyable things about Sunday is watching the television coverage of Soccer, long a sport that has been kicked around by promoters, fans, and newspaper reporters. No one has gone all-out in interesting colleges in staging contests on the Big 10 scale.

There is no reason why Soccer matches shouldn't draw as big a crowd as baseball, football, or wrestling. Anyone who has played the game knows it is just as hard on the players as any other leading sport, and just as thrilling.

Our front room is jammed on Sundays now. Kids who previously had never heard of the game are learning how to play. Some are nursing bruised shins, but they'll be better boys. How much better to have them compete in such a game, rather than stunting their mental growth by subjecting them to afternoons at a movie palace or reading of the comics.

Second thought: Doesn't "Think Fast," on Sunday evenings, strike you as a rather silly show? With the exception of charming Eloise McElhone and quick-witted David Broekman, the regulars have little shine. Some of the questions asked are as boring as a census.

Another query: Do you experience the same puzzled feeling at the end of "Studio One" televcasts?

More of the same: Aren't you also of the opinion that they're scraping the barrel on "Colgate Theater," in trying to come up with an entertaining show each week? Somehow, they've been falling flat. We know a dozen young writers with brilliant stuff just waiting to be televised. Why don't they get a break?

Final question: Do you think Herb Shriner will someday fill the shoes of the late and great Will Rogers?
